

FIFTEEN HUNDRED PAY STRATTON GREATEST PERSONAL TRIBUTE

Victory is Predicted for Candidate From Lake County

POOR SWEDE FIRES SHOTS AT SMITH

Greatest personal testimonial ever accorded a state candidate was the banquet given in honor of William J. Stratton and his family at the Palmer House, Chicago, Tuesday evening. The meeting, arranged by Frederick Lundin together with several other personal friends of Mr. Stratton, was presided over by Senator Earl B. Searey as toastmaster. More than 1,500 attended.

The principal speaker of the evening was Fred Lundin, for years recognized as one of the state's powerful political figures. In a masterful, and convincing address the speaker urged the election of Herbert Hoover as president and the entire Republican ticket in Illinois.

Lundin Makes Masterful Address
Mr. Lundin said in part:

Democrats Betray People in 1916
"First, I ask Al Smith if he is not willfully and knowingly misrepresenting the truth and the facts on this issue just exactly in the same manner as did Woodrow Wilson and the Democratic party on the war issue in 1916?"

"In that campaign Charles E. Hughes was the Republican candidate for President and Woodrow Wilson was the Democratic candidate. The American people then were confronted with the most momentous question in our history. The Democratic National committee placed the candidacy of Woodrow Wilson before the nation with this statement:

"Do you want to contribute a father or son or brother to the bloody shambles of war? Woodrow Wilson thinks not. Hughes represents the party which asks you for your contribution of young, throbbing human life. It is up to you. If you want war, vote for Hughes. If you want peace, elect Wilson."

"Al Smith, how do you square your action in accepting the nomination from the Democratic party on a platform contrary to your alleged stand (Continued on back page)

YOUNG PEOPLE TO FORM LEAGUES TO FURTHER REPUBLICAN CAUSES

Enrollment in the Young People's Republican League of Illinois is progressing at such a rapid rate that already more than fifty thousand members have signed the rolls and are doing their bit to carry Illinois for Herbert Hoover, Charles Curtis, Louis L. Emmerson and the Republican state ticket in its entirety.

All of the twenty-five congressional districts in the state and virtually all of the counties are now organized in the Young People's League, membership being about equally divided between young men and young women. Local offices are not monopolized by men but are shared by the younger women, who are as enthusiastic as their male companions.

Hundreds of pledge cards from various sections of the state are being received daily by L. A. Welton, state chairman of the league at headquarters in the Hotel LaSalle, Chicago.

While rural districts are by no means being slighted in the work of organization and city centers are receiving due attention, special stress is being paid to university and college groups.

Local officers and members are joining with their county committees in their work. In addition to increasing the league membership many volunteers from the young people's groups have pledged their aid in getting out the vote election day.

LAKE COUNTY VOTERS INVITED TO BARBECUE AT Mc CORMICK FARM

Ten Thousand Persons Are Expected To Attend Meeting Saturday.

More than ten thousand persons are expected to attend the closing rally of the Republican down-state campaign in Illinois, October 20, at Rock River farms, near Byron, the home of Mrs. Ruth McCormick, Republican candidate for Congressman at Large.

Elaborate preparations have been made for the event, which is to be staged in a natural amphitheater in the wooded hills on the banks of the Rock River. An unusual incident of the occasion will be a barbecue dinner.

Two large tents joined by a covered stand for the speakers have been arranged and amplifiers will be installed so that the program may be carried out rain or shine. The speakers of the day will be Louis L. Emmerson, candidate for governor; Orla F. Glenn, candidate for United States Senator, and all the other state and district candidates.

Starting with the Republican state central committee, the invitation list includes all county central committee chairmen and secretaries, the entire county committees of the four northern counties of Lake, Boone, McHenry, Winnebago, Stephenson, Jo Daviess, Carroll, Ogle, DeKalb, Whiteside, Lee, Bureau, Kendall, Grundy and Kane.

YOUTH IS DROWNED

While on a fishing trip in Minnesota with his father and brother-in-law last Friday, Lewis Irving Padlock, 24, was drowned. Funeral services were held Tuesday at St. Peter's church.

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Padlock, Bluff Lake, a brother, Charles, Bluff Lake; and two sisters, Mrs. Irving Forster, Chicago, and Sister Margaret Padlock, D. S. V., Indianapolis, are left.

BANDIT IS CAUGHT

After robbing 35 places in Waukegan since last February, the "Lonely One", Orville Weyant, 22, was captured early yesterday morning. The burglaries have mystified police for months, and through the letters written by the "Lonely One" to police and to newspapers, the story woven about the burglaries is more like fiction than fact.

WE OFFER YOU

Inserted in the News today are rotogravure prints of Hoover and Curtis, Republican nominees for president and vice-president, respectively.

The Antioch News has a few prints unfolded, which may be obtained by calling at the office. It is hoped that the pictures will be displayed in windows, in cars, and in other prominent places.

Tarbell Fines 6 For Failure to Pay Business Tax

Defendants Will Appeal to Higher Court—James Has Case Continued.

KING ASKS CHANGE OF VENUE

Naming fines of $100 and costs for each of six defendants in the Antioch business tax collection cases, granting a continuance for one, and a change of venue for another was, the business ground out in the court of Justice Tarbell at the village hall Tuesday afternoon.

Defendants who were fined and will appeal their cases to the circuit court are Standard Oil filling station (Wm. Gray), First National Bank, C. D. Foth, Antioch Oil Co., and Mike Depner, baker. L. M. Wetzel, not appearing at the hearing, also drew a fine of $100, but he also will appeal his case.

Grants Change of Venue
J. C. James was granted a continuance of his case, and Frank R. King, druggist, asked for a change of venue. Under ordinary circumstances J. C. James would be "it," but James being a defendant under the same ordinance, was objected to, of course, by the village. Police Magistrate Geisler would also be objected to, it is said, so the case of Mr. King will probably be heard before an outside justice, perhaps at Lake Villa.

Just to show he was lenient Justice Tarbell stated that the fine of $100 would be remitted in case defendants saw fit to pay their business tax within ten days, but that the court costs would have to be paid. He then fixed the appeal bond at $300 in each case.

The present controversy grew out of the fact that the business tax was intended originally for the purpose of financing a white way, or ornamental lighting system, the measure being first proposed nearly three years ago. Since then the ordinance has been twice revised and in the meantime the lighting project has been abandoned. Merchants object to paying a special tax for the general expenses of the village, claiming that such funds should be raised by general taxation.

The outcome of the test cases are being watched with much interest.

MARISSA MAN FOUND GUILTY OF VIOLATING ILLINOIS T. B. LAWS

J. A. Hamilton, a Marissa banker, financier and farmer was found guilty last week, by a jury in the St. Clair county circuit court of a livestock quarantine violation, as charged by the Illinois Department of Agriculture. Hilmer C. Lindner, state's attorney of St. Clair county, in the prosecution of the case, had the assistance of Assistant Attorney General Merrill F. Wehmhoff, who prepared the evidence for the Department of Agriculture, and assisted in its presentation to the jury.

Evidence introduced by witnesses for the prosecution, representing the Illinois Department of Agriculture brought out that in December, 1925, with the knowledge of the defendant, Hamilton, the regulation tuberculin test was made on Hamilton's herd of cattle, on his farm near Marissa, and that two, reacting to the test, were branded as tubercular. Witnesses further testified that instructions were duly issued to the effect that the tubercular cattle, unless sold for slaughter, must be kept segregated from the animals that the tests did not pronounce tubercular.

Hamilton's failure, after repeated warnings by representatives of the state department of agriculture, to keep the branded cattle separated from the others was established by the witnesses for the prosecution. In August, 1927, according to the testimony, representatives of the department of agriculture visiting the Hamilton farm, found two cattle that had been branded as tubercular among a herd of other cattle. A quarantine upon the entire herd, then established by the department of agriculture and violated by the defendant on September 14, 1927, in the sale of one bull calf to an East St. Louis commission merchant, formed the basis of the charge on which the jury brought in its verdict.

The act whereon the case was prosecuted, as cited by the representative of the Attorney General's office, Wehmhoff, is entitled "An act to revise the law in relation to the suppression and prevention of the spread of contagious and infectious diseases among domestic animals, effective since July 1, 1923.

THIEVES ARE BUSY HERE THIS WEEK; TAKE $250 LOOT

Rowling Sandwich Shop is Entered, Believed By Two Persons

"SNATCH A BITE"

Helping themselves to apple pie and beer from the refrigerator, thieves ransacked the Jess Rowling Sandwich shop early Wednesday morning and stole goods estimated to be worth about $250.

The theft is believed to be the work of two persons, according to Officer Frank Valenta, who was called as soon as the robbery was discovered when the shop was opened Wednesday noon. A ladder had been used to reach the rear window which had been opened with an automobile spring.

Among the articles taken were: six boxes of cigars, 3,000 cigarettes, two women's coats, three dresses, $5 in change, a quantity of chewing gum, a slot machine, an electric flat-iron, six decks of cards, and many smaller miscellaneous articles. No clues have been discovered, Mr. Valenta said this morning.

Burns Received Last July Prove Fatal To Youth

Funeral services will be held in St. Peter's church tomorrow morning for Charles J. Krenner, 24, who died in Victory Memorial hospital Tuesday as a result of burns received in an oil explosion at the state line filling station July 16.

An inquiry, conducted by Justice Sam Tarbell, was held yesterday evening at 5 o'clock.

Police Officers Mean Nothing to Orderly Drivers, Mayor Says

You can't please all the people all the time no matter what is done or who is doing it. The foregoing statement is the gist of remarks uttered by Mayor S. E. Pollock yesterday during an interview regarding the dissatisfaction that seems to have arisen from some quarters because many speeding motorists have been forced to pay fines in Antioch.

Published letters in Chicago dailies, presumably written by alleged members of "I-got-a-drag" club, who claim to have been "victimized" in Antioch have brought a renewed interest in Antioch's traffic law enforcement policy.

According to the Mayor, a community has choice of two things—throwing the roads wide open to all kinds of reckless driving, speeding and law violations, or of forcing orderly traffic conditions by the employment of a motorcycle officer. Law-abiding citizens who have regard for life and property have no fear of police officers, whether there be one or a hundred patrolling the roads.

"The matter has not gained recognition officially," Mayor Pollock said.

DAM SITE AND MILL BOUGHT BY KENOSHA COUNTY; PRICE $250

In accordance with action taken at a recent meeting of the Kenosha County board, a committee from that board exercised the option which the county board held on the dam site in the Fox River at Wilmot. The site was owned by Clay Hardy who had given an option to sell it to the county for $250. The purchase includes some adjoining property on the river front in order to give working room in placing new dam. The county has purchased the site with a view of repairing the dam in order to protect property rights. The county park is one of the tracts of land to be benefited by maintaining the water level obtained when the dam is properly maintained.

ACTION PLANNED

Such organizations have been unusually popular in the last few weeks throughout the state and in various parts of Lake county. Good speakers are to be present Monday night. The program will be started at 8 o'clock. The public is invited.

Thursday, November 1, the league is planning to have a free dance at the Antioch Palace, with music furnished by the 10-piece orchestra now at the Valncia in Waukegan.

EMMERSON'S ABILITY PRAISED BY SPEAKER

Carlstrom Makes Appeal To Support National Ticket.

Yorkville, October 18 — Oscar E. Carlstrom, Republican nominee for Attorney General, in a speech here yesterday afternoon, made a special appeal to working men and farmers to support Hoover and Curtis and the entire Republican state ticket. Attorney General Carlstrom said in part:

The people of this state and nation are thinking seriously of the issues of this campaign. They are beginning to see through the false issues brought forward by the Democratic party in a frantic attempt to win votes. The working man is beginning to think about his job in the future. He is growing anxious about the continuance of steady employment at good wages. He wants to keep up the payments on his home. He wants to save a little for the comforts of his family and to provide for the education of his children. He knows the Republican party by application of the protective tariff has kept factories open in this country.

He is not unmindful of the fact that the Republican party by placing the selective immigration act upon the statute books following the World War has protected him from competition by a flood of cheap European labor. He has not forgotten the conditions that existed during the last days of the Wilson administration when five million men of this country were out of work, due to the Underwood low tariff bill enacted into law under the last Democratic administration. The working man of this country are going to vote for Hoover on election day to hold their jobs. They are going to vote in the interest of their wives, children and homes. They are going to vote for a continuation of Republican policies applied to Government.

"During the last eight years there has been much legislation placed on the statute books by the Republican party for the purpose of aiding the farmer. The War Finance corporation, which was brought into being by the Republican party as an emergency measure at the close of the World War, loaned to the farmers of this country 650 millions of dollars at a low rate of interest. The Fordney McCumber tariff enacted by the Republican party almost eight years ago—not only protected the American wage earner and the business man of this country, but carried the highest protection ever given the farmer. It is the purpose of the Republican party to strengthen the tariff generally as applied to farm products, and with the aid of the best talent of this country among the farm leaders and agriculturists to work out a definite and successful solution of the farm problem which is one of the most pressing questions before the nation today.

"Our nominee for president, Herbert Hoover, has a definite program based on sound economics, which will bring to the farmers a permanent and lasting prosperity.

"Not in a quarter of a century, in my judgment have the people of Illinois been presented with a better ticket, from governor down, than this ticket which is headed by Louis L. Emmerson for governor. Mr. Emmerson is a man of business experience whose public record is without honest criticism. As secretary of state he has conducted that office as a model business institution. His knowledge of state affairs gained in the office of secretary of state qualifies him to make a great governor of Illinois."

SCOUTS TO MEET

Cub scouts will meet in Guild hall Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock for the first meeting of the year.

GLENN DENOUNCES POLICIES FAVORED BY DEMOCRATS

Mrs. McCormick is Also Speaker at Big Rally

CHEER STRATTON

Although Louis L. Emmerson, Republican candidate for governor, was unable to be present, the 1,500 persons who attended the Republican rally in Waukegan Monday night, were furnished an interesting program consisting of addresses by Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, candidate for congresswoman-at-large; Orla F. Glenn, candidate for United States senator; Congressman Carl D. Chidholm, and Representative Frank McCarthy.

William J. Stratton, Lake county's first candidate for a state office, received a great ovation. He thanked his friends in a short talk, so characteristic of this man who is certain to succeed Louis L. Emmerson as secretary of state. Every Republican candidate present—as does every other candidate in the field—spoke words of praise for Mr. Stratton, and it is easily understood why he is often spoken of by news writers and by speakers as one of the most popular candidates in Illinois. Mrs. McCormick, in her address, paid a beautiful tribute to Mr. Stratton, and humorously referred to the short addresses always made by him.

State's Attorney A. V. Smith, candidate for reelection, gave a short talk, and Ray Padlock, candidate for state senator, Richard Lyons and Lee McDonough, candidates for representative, L. O. Brockway, candidate for recorder, and Charles Russell, for county surveyor, were introduced.

Max Pryzhorski, Lake county chairman, opened the meeting, but named Circuit Judge Claire Edwards to take charge of the remainder of the program. Vocal selections were offered by the Johnson City quartette.

Glenn Talks

Issues of the Democratic party were scored by Orla Glenn in his address. He stressed the fact that religion and the prohibition questions are not issues, and are not problems to be considered in the campaign.

"Alfred Smith," he said, "has tried and is still trying, to gain ground by making these two questions issues, but they will not be considered by the honest citizen."

Mr. Glenn does not believe that the dry south will vote for Mr. Smith and his modification program. The liquor question had been brought up, the speaker declared, in the hope of "pulling" votes in the districts which have been strongly Republican at previous elections.

That the working man would have to suffer with low wages, in competition with the underpaid laborer of Europe and Asia, if it were not for the Republican tariff, is the opinion expressed by Mr. Glenn. Democratic policies, if promoted, would cause great turmoil in the working ranks, he explained.

Mr. Glenn maintains that the Democrats have adopted most of the major Republican policies, and now Al Smith is attempting to convey this (Continued on Page 4)

Hints of Fashions
Noticed Around
Antioch

When it was hot last week one's thoughts didn't turn to fall fashions as readily as they did when the weather became colder Saturday. Then everyone started wearing coats again.

One young woman, seen in the post-office, wore a tan coat which was the peak of fashion. It's too bad everyone didn't see the new sleeve effects—plain, yet of such unusual design. And the coat boasted of a new back style that was unusually beautiful in design. The collar and cuffs were sumptuously trimmed with fur. The coat was beautiful, but one of those which seems rather intangible when it comes to describing it! It had so many good points.

The woman who wore the coat also wore a gold turban—the first hat of metal ribbon noticed this autumn. The only ornament was a large bow of the same material with a bronze buckle in the center.

Her shoes were tan—just the color of the coat, and her hose were a perfect match.

The purse she carried was of futuristic design, a combination of tan and brown, with a large gold bow for a fastener.

FAIRYLAND FUN
IN RHYMN

Wonder if all of the boys and girls who read this piece know about the fairies who live in and around Antioch? It is seldom one can see them—but sometimes good little children do. Each week the News will print a poem about the fairies. Once the fairies all gathered in Fairyland woods.

'Twas on a beautiful night
When the moonbeams danced gaily everywhere,
And scattered their silvery light.

The fairies were having an elaborate ball
For their dearly beloved queen,
And the bright dancing lanterns up in the trees
Were the most beautiful that ever were seen.

The leaves turned from green to glittering gold,
And the flowers gleamed like diamonds
so rare,
While all elves and fairies, both good and bad
Were numbered among those who were there.

All the good fairies brought a wand
for the queen
It was fashioned of rubies and pearls,
And the note on it read: "This wand
is a gift,
From your good fairy boys and girls."

Now the bad fairies heard of the wonderful gift,
And before the queen had received
it,
They ran with the wand, hid it deep in a cave—
Really, isn't it hard to believe?

When the good fairies heard that the wand had been taken,
They went to the queen with tears in their eyes—
"And the worst of it is," one of them bemoaned,
"Is that now there won't be a surprise."

The queen called a meeting of all of the fairies,
And when the bad fairies were all in the crowd,
She waved an old wand and the bad fairies became
Good fairies of which to be proud.

So they rushed to where the wand had been hidden,
And the queen was donated the present,
And the fairies all danced to the tune of the winds
For everything now was quite pleasant.

Did You Ever Try
These Recipes?
Do, Please.

What's livin' without love—but what's a meal without salad? Fresh, crisp salads are always inviting and delicious, even if the same recipe is used over and over.

SURPRISE salad is—well, it is quite surprising. Take a crisp, cup-shaped piece of head lettuce, place on a salad plate and sprinkle with a few nuts and finely chopped pieces of olives. Cover thinly with mayonnaise. Over the top put small leaves of the lettuce. Place on these small leaves a banana which has been sliced lengthwise and put together again with a mixture of grated raw carrots, peanut butter and a tiny bit of cream. Dot the top with mayonnaise.

For a vegetable salad this one is difficult to beat. Place shredded lettuce on the salad plate. Chop together, coarsely, equal parts of cabbage, green beans, and beets. Add a few peas. Onion makes the salad even more delicious if one likes the flavor. Mix the vegetables, with the exception of the lettuce, with a weak, lukewarm solution of vinegar, sugar and water. There should be a very small amount of sugar. Slightly drain the vegetables and place on the lettuce.

Pear-face salad. That's the name of this one—and here is how to make it! Make a cup of a lettuce leaf, and place on the salad plate. Take a half of a canned pear, and fill the hollow place where the core was taken out, with cottage cheese. Place the pear and the cheese on the lettuce so that the cheese is not showing—that is, so the center of the pear will be face down. You will notice that the broad end of the pear forms the top of the head, and the narrow part the chin, and that the general outline is much like a face. Take tiny pieces of cherries and fashion a dainty mouth and a nose. Small pieces of raisins make the eyes and the eye brows. Just a touch of cherry juice to the cheeks give the rosy "skin you love to touch" effect. With mayonnaise, which may be thinned with whipped cream, one can form "hair" on the face, and with a fork one can "comb" it and make a beautiful part!

ALL ABOUT WHAT THE LITTLE CHILDREN ARE DOING IN ANIMAL WORLD

BY V. LUDEL BODEN

It hurts to get stung by a bee, doesn't it boys and girls? But is it fun to watch the bees as they buzz around among the flowers, isn't it? I wonder if this summer you all noticed Mr. Dusty Bee, Mr. Yellow-stripe Bee, and Mr. Zee-hi-hoom Bee as they went from one blossom to the other.

Well, most of you saw them, I am sure, so I know you will all be interested in hearing about the bee brothers, you know. One of the boys was sitting on a fence post one day, in the sun, just having a good time, dozing off, shaking his body, and enjoying life in general, when all at once there came out of the big maple tree a big bird, and that bird made a dash for the bee, for the bird thought to himself:

"My! What a delicious dessert that bee boy would make for dinner!"

Well, poor Zee-hi-hoom saw the bird coming and, being a young bee, and not having had much experience, he didn't know what to do, but just as the bird reached the post, the bee boy moved a tiny bit, and the bird, whose name was Longy-bill, stuck his beak down into the soft wood and there he stuck! He was the funniest looking bird you can imagine with his beak forced way down in the wood, his feet stuck up in the air, and his wings flapping and fluttering. You see, his mouth was closed and he couldn't even scream for help. Wasn't Longy-bill in a terrible predicament?

Well, Zee-hi-hoom didn't know what to do. He was still frightened, thinking that he might have been eaten by Longy-bill, and yet, he didn't want to see the bird suffering like that. So he got some very, very tall grass and put it around Longy-bill's neck like a lasso. Wasn't he brave to do that? Then he pulled and pulled and pulled, but still he couldn't pull the bird's beak out of the post. Longy-bill, instead of appreciating what Zee-hi-hoom was attempting to do, became angry—oh! very, very angry—and the more angry he became, the more he shook his body and flapped his wings and the farther into the wood sank his beak. All at once, though, he jerked so hard that his beak became freed and he went tumbling into the grass. "I'll get even with you," he shrieked to Zee-hi-hoom, "I'll teach you to try to strangle me, I will!" And oh, he shrieked and cried as loudly and as angrily as he could. Wasn't that a terrible way for him to act when the poor bee boy had tried to be so kind to him, even though Longy-bill had intended to eat him?

Poor Zee-hi-hoom didn't know what to do, for he was certain that Longy-bill would try to eat him. So Zee-hi-hoom flew to the garden of flowers as fast as he could, and told his brothers, Dusty and Yellow-stripe all about his troubles!

"Well, fix that old bird," Dusty said, "Come on, let's teach him a lesson." You see Dusty and Yellow-stripe are older than Zee-hi-hoom and, they always had to protect their little brother, just like little boys in the third grade have to protect their little brothers and sisters who are in the first grade of school. You all know how that is, don't you?

Well, the three bee boys flew to the edge of the field and there was Longy-bill still as angry as he could be.

"I'll eat every bee in the garden of flowers," he was saying out loud, even though he wasn't talking to anyone. "I'll eat Zee-hi-hoom first of all."

Just then a tiny redbird flew out of the tree, and exclaimed:

"Why, Longy-bill, I would be ashamed if I were you. You know that Zee-hi-hoom was trying to free you, even after you had intended to eat him. I watched it all and I didn't try to help you because I cannot say that I felt sorry for you."

"You'll pay for being so mean," Longy-bill screamed.

"Oh no you won't," Pickle Redbird answered. "You have mistreated all of the tiny birds, you have destroyed out nests, you have been unkind to the bees, you have hurt the baby rabbits and squirrels, and now it is time that you learned to let us alone."

Just then Longy-bill saw the three bee boys, and he started for them. They were too quick, however, and they flew right on Longy-bill's head.

"Are you going to promise that you will never harm any smaller birds, any bees, or any animal children?" Dusty asked Longy-bill. And Longy-bill wouldn't promise. He acted very, very naughty about it all, so what do you suppose those bee boys did? They started to sting Longy-bill on the head, and they stung and stung until Longy-bill promised to be good and not to bother anyone anymore. After he promised he started flying away saying:

"I am going away, and I am going to the woods far, far away to live." And away he went until he was lost in the distance.

Well, this suited the birds and the bees and the animals, and they all were so happy that the three bee brothers were given medals.

GO TO MEETING

C. L. Kull, teacher of agriculture in the Antioch High school, and Lewis Gallager went to Aurora yesterday afternoon to a meeting of farm advisers, agriculture teachers, and others interested in school agricultural courses and study. The meeting was called by the dean of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, for the purpose of discussing the farm situation in this state.

Grade cards were issued at the high school this week. This was a six weeks' report.

WORK ON SEQUOIA

Work is progressing rapidly for this time of the year on the Sequoia, Antioch High school annual. The cover which has been chosen by the staff is gray with a crimson facing. The theme to be carried out, both pictorially and in an editorial manner, will be concerning lakes—chosen because this district is the "hub of the lake region."

Louise Simons is editor-in-chief. Others on the staff are: Martha Westlake and Dorothy Hughes, associate editors; Dick Folbrick and Howard Mastne, business managers; Rudolph Stramez and June Beatty, are directors; Mary Gallager, "snaps"; Esther Stearns, jokes; Charles Wertz, boys' athletics; Bertha Seibora, girls' athletics; Esther Barthel, music; Ray Berglund, classes; Esther Grunlied, organizations.

Freshmen who have been elected to offices are: Francis Walsh, president; Helen Pachey, secretary; Gertrude Hughes, treasurer; F. J. Hackett and Miss Leone Miller, advisers.

DISCUSS PLANS

To discuss plans for a musical festival and public speaking contest to be held next spring, Principal L. O. Bright, L. W. Petersen, and Miss Hedvig Rice, high school faculty members attended a meeting Wednesday. The project discussed includes plans to have the 10 high schools of the northwest conference combine musical organizations of various types to give programs at the annual festival, instead of having each school present a separate concert.

BIG GAME'S COMING

Revenge in their hearts, blond in their eyes, and the old fight instilled in them, the Antioch High school football eleven is practicing long and hard, hoping to defeat Warren October 27. The rivalry is especially keen, since the two schools are located so close together. The game is to be played in Gurnee.

Tomorrow the team goes to Franklin Park to play the boys coached by L. R. Watson, formerly Antioch athletic instructor. Many from here are expected to accompany the team.

Interest is growing in athletics at the grade school. Teachers in charge of girls' sports are Miss Ida Belle Harwood, Miss Julia Sticker, and Miss Mary Hynek.

Caps and gowns may be worn by the graduates of the local high school next June, according to L. O. Bright, who this week received a sample of a gray gown and cap which would be appropriate to use. A vote is to be taken.

Final plans have been made by L. O. Bright for the lyceum course which is to be offered this winter. The dates for the entertainments are December 17, January 7, January 26, and April 15.

Fire drills aren't held at regular intervals at the high school, but the students are on their toes as soon as the alarm starts. The drill held the other day proved that everyone was out of the building in 40 seconds.

Practises are being held regularly by the Boys' and Girls' Glee clubs of the high school. Miss Hedvig Rice is director of both clubs.

(Students in the Home Economics department of Antioch High school have written compositions on "Dress" and "Dress Accessories." Mrs. Ruby Richey has selected four of the best, one of which is printed below. The others will follow in various issues of The News—The Editor.)

Dress Accessories

Decoration is one of the most dangerous pitfalls for the woman who is untrained in the art of correct dressing.

Some women select things which appeal as separate parts, without giving any thought as to whether they belong in the complete picture. Art is expressed only in perfect harmony between color, line, and proportion.

In dress as in every other work of art, there must be the quality of unity. If the suit expresses durability, the hat, shoes, blouse, gloves, in fact every part of the costume, must express durability too. A chiffon dress should not be worn with oxfords and cotton hose nor should a sport outfit be worn with silk hose and high-heeled slippers.

A woman should be a "design." If nature has failed to give to a woman the desirable asset of beauty, she often compensates by giving the woman sufficient intelligence to camouflage her homeliness.

A hat should seem to belong to the wearer. It is the one article of dress a woman should not lend or borrow. It should seem to belong to the wearer not only because it fits her head but because of its suitability to her costume and her temperament.

The tall woman should wear the wide brim; the short woman should wear a hat without a brim or with a very narrow one. The square faced person can wear a straight line hat. The round faced one can wear a straight brim or a sailor hat. An oval face should be surmounted by a hat with a downward, irregular but graceful curving line. For a long thin face a shallow hat with curves, no angles, and a close fit to the hair will make the face seem rounder.

When eyes are a woman's best feature, she should not hide their brightness but choose turbans and brimless effects. If she feels that her hollow cheeks or pointed chin need to be softened she can find many lovely things for that purpose, soft furs, laces, and neck scarfs.

A woman can wear a color above her face which she could not possibly stand under her chin. The reason for this is that her hair forms an effective transition between hat and flesh.

A color casts its reflection downward, but brings out its complement above. One who is not certain of her color sense should beware of too contrasting combinations. In harmonies of likeness, she must avoid wearing a hat with a dress so nearly like it in color that it gives the impression of a mistake in matching.

The scarf has always worn a gay and festive air, so when clothes began to adopt a standard of plainness and severity, the scarf proved to be an enlivening spirit. With tailored suit, sport clothes, or school apparel, the scarf is a necessity.

The Constitution of Our Country By Hazel Hawkins

When the Revolution began some of the wisest men saw the need of the states hanging together, as Franklin said, if they should succeed. It was for this purpose that the Albany Congress, the Stamp Act Congress and the first Continental Congress were held. Little was accomplished at these meetings but the second Continental Congress we may speak of as forming our first national government. At this meeting many important things were done. Washington was appointed the commander of the army. Money was borrowed, the Declaration of Independence was adopted and many other things were accomplished. This Constitutional Congress managed affairs from 1775-1781.

As there was no written Constitution during these years the Convention governed by common consent. The people saw the need of a written constitution which should state their rights for some of the men that had taken care and interest in the national government now started to serve the state governments. So the same day the Declaration of Independence was adopted, a committee was appointed to draft a form of government. Dickinson was the head of this committee. A few days later the Articles of Confederation as this new government was called were laid before Congress and they were adopted to serve as our government for a while. This government had little real power. It couldn't enforce, collect taxes, maintain an army or navy or regulate commerce.

Under the Articles of Confederation the government was under great perils. The first of these perils was poverty and the government needed money to pay the soldiers who had served in the war.

When the war closed there were many kinds of money including English, French and Spanish. Also there were many paper notes issued by the government during the war. The government was able to pay these notes. The doubt that the United States could pay this money depreciated its value greatly. Another peril was that the government couldn't regulate commerce and various states were taxing neighboring states on articles imported. The matters of foreign trade were no better.

Wiser men saw the need of a stronger national government but most of the people were slow to see this.

At a convention held in Washington's home in 1785 to settle a dispute about trade between Maryland and Virginia it was decided that if two states could settle a dispute about trade so easily certainly all the states could come to an agreement, so a year later a convention was called but only five states responded so another was called in 1787.

At this convention all the states sent delegates except Rhode Island. Washington was chosen president. Other important figures were Franklin, Hamilton, Madison, Dickinson and Morris. There were also others whose names we do not know so well. The men of this convention faced a great difficulty. Some wanted to patch up the Articles of Confederation and go home. Others thought there wasn't sound enough material to hold the patches. Still others said that the people wouldn't adopt a Constitution that ought to be made but Washington saved the day by saying: "If to please the people we offer that we ourselves disapprove how can we afterward defend our work? Let us raise a standard to which the wise and honest can repair. The event is in the hand of God."

After it was decided to make a new Constitution the problem of representation came up. The large states wanted to be represented according to population but the small states thought that all should be represented equal but it was finally decided Congress should have two houses, one the Senate in which all

Moultrie Leads State In High Testing Herds

Urbana, Oct. 18.—From only one herd in 1926 that averaged 400 pounds of butterfat a cow to twelve that hit this high production during the last year is the state record claimed for the Moultrie County Dairy Herd Improvement association from which 25 farmers and dairymen have been getting accurate records on their cows for the last three years.

This record number of high producing herds was not an accident but came through continuous improvement of cows belonging to members of the association. It was pointed out by J. H. Brock, assistant in dairy extension at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, where the work of these associations is supervised. At the end of two years' testing the association had only four herds at this level of production, he explained.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Strang have gone to Iowa and South Dakota on a motor trip of two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Nelson have returned from a vacation trip of two weeks in southern Illinois. Returning with them were Mrs. Nelson's sister, Mrs. Charles Rhodes and son.

After spending two weeks touring through western states, S. M. Wallace, W. H. Regan, and H. B. Gaston have returned to Antioch. They visited Denver, Lookout mountain, Genesee mountain, Cascade Falls, Fall River Pass, Estes park, Big Thompson canyon, which is 33 miles long; Bear Creek canyon, and Pike's Peak. Of course, the three enjoyed the trip, but most of all, Mr. Wallace gets great "kick" out of telling how his "noble and trusty Chevy" made all the grades—and didn't balk once!

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. King have had as their guest, Mr. King's aunt, Mrs. Gerkey, Jackson, Michigan.

G'ENN DENOUNCES POLICIES FAVORED BY DEMOCRATS

Idea to the public that the Democrats are originators of the protective tariff.

Had Full Evening Although not able to arrive in Waukegan after 10 o'clock, as she gave an address in Woodstock earlier in the night, Mrs. McCormick was warmly greeted by the audience, and her address was short, to the point, and delivered in an interesting way.

Besides the tribute paid to Mr. Stratton, Mrs. McCormick talked only of national politics. Her comparison of Hoover and Smith was the theme about which her address was woven.

Smith, she characterized as a typical New Yorker who has risen from the crowded, poverty-stricken east side, to a place of prominence. Credit to the nth degree is due him, she believes, but she also stated that Smith's views are narrow and limited.

Herbert Hoover, however, is a man whose views have been broadened by travel, experience and education, she stated. He has long studied the problems of various communities.

Mrs. McCormick said, and further than that, he has contributed toward the solution of those problems. Hoover is a man who understands local, national and international questions, the speaker declared, charging that Smith knows New York only.

McCarthy Talks As Louis Emmerson was unable to be present because of a conflicting engagement, Representative Frank McCarthy, Elgin, spoke. Abhorring the mudslinging campaign being staged today, Mr. McCarthy said that he cannot understand why Floyd Thompson, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, should want to charge Emmerson with various dishonesties, when Thompson's own record cannot be examined in any way. The letter written to former Governor Frank Lowden by Newton H. Baker, at the time Mr. Baker was secretary of war, charging that Rock Island authorities of which Thompson was head were doing little to correct the corrupt and degenerate Illinois city, and asking Lowden's aid, was mentioned by Mr. McCarthy. The Democratic secretary of war, the speaker said, was asking Lowden, a Republican governor, to help do something which Thompson, a Democratic state's attorney, would not do.

Attacks Spendings In Congressman Chidbloom's speech, the extravagances of the Democratic party during the war were attacked. He gave statistics to show how the Republicans had practised policies of economy.

WINDUP AT PALACE IS ONE OF BEST BOUTS OF SEASON

ANTIOCH FIGHT RESULTS

Windup
Bob Stone, Chicago, won the decision over Tony Wernus, Milwaukee, in three rounds.

Ray Trumble, Rockford, beat Westley Johnson, Milwaukee, in four rounds.

Double Semi-windup
Elmer Bennett, Milwaukee, won by a technical knockout over Ollie Oy, Rockford.

Matt Dahlman, Milwaukee, won over Ted Dobson, Rockford, in three rounds.

Preliminaries
Lon Buckman, Rockford, beat Gust DeSalvo, Milwaukee, in three rounds.
Tony Mandell, Rockford, defeated Frank Stanzar, Milwaukee, in four rounds.

John Sarna, Rockford, beat Joe Fagen, Milwaukee, in three rounds.

John Gaudes, Milwaukee, beat Carl Conti, Rockford, in three rounds.

What a fight! Not a person in the crowd at the Antioch Palace Friday night sat back in his chair during the fight staged by Ray Trumble, Rockford, and Westley Johnson, Milwaukee. The bout lasted four rounds, and oh! what a fight!

During the first and second rounds Johnson seemed to make the most gain. In the third round, however, Trumble did a pretty piece of work. He opened up a large cut over Johnson's eye, making it difficult for the latter to see, and he could not ward off Trumble's heavy attack. The judges announced a disagreement at the end of the third round, and after the fourth, Trumble was given the decision.

The other windup bout, between Bob Stone, Chicago, and Tony Wernus, Milwaukee, was no slouch. Stone won in the three rounds. Every round was a fast one. From the sound of the first gong, those boys fought with an "up and at 'em" spirit. There was nothing slow about them.

Elmer Bennett, Milwaukee, won by a technical knowledge over Ollie Oy, Rockford. Referee Jabber Young stopped the fight after 1-31 minutes of the second round. Oy had taken a count of six after a succession of wicked face jolters when he ran into a right cross to the face, delivered in close. He started to sway, but Young caught him before he fell. Both Oy and Bennett cried hard to score a k. o., but Bennett was a little the better fighter.

Matt Dahlman, Milwaukee, scored a victory over Ted Dobson, Rockford. The bout was one-sided. There was never a time when cards looked favorable for Dobson.

Tony Mandell, Rockford, found it was necessary to fight Frank Stanzar, Milwaukee, four rounds, before the former was declared winner. In the extra round several solid right crosses gave Mandell the victory.

Lon Buckman, Rockford, won a three-round victory over Gust DeSalvo, Milwaukee. John Gaudes, Milwaukee, struffed his stuff and licked Carl Conti, Rockford, to a frazzle. John Sarna, Rockford, beat Joe Fagen, Milwaukee.

The evening's program was better than the usual entertainment offered, but it is natural that fighters from Sammy Mandell's Rockford gym and those from Plunkie Mitchell's stable, Milwaukee, should offer some good fights. Plunkie Mitchell was present, but due to an injury, Sammy Mandell was forced to stay at home.

The card for tomorrow night follows:

Charley Zahale, Highland Park, 125 lbs., Harry Leggett, Chicago.
Gene De Rose, Gary, Ind., 132 lbs., Bennie Goldblatt, Chicago.
Frank Hughes, Kenosha, Wis., 135 lbs., Harry Karlos, Gary, Ind.
Fritz Behrenz, Lake Forest, 155 lbs., Hugh Campbell, Grayslake, Ill.
Lon Staley, Waukegan, Ill., 132 lbs., Joe Brown, Evanston, Ill.
Larry Lavette, Waukegan, Ill., 152 lbs., Frankie Mason, Chicago, Illinois.
Felix Druha, Waukegan, Ill., 165 lbs., Bob Stone, Chicago, Illinois.

TONIGHT MARKS FIRST PROFESSIONAL BOUTS IN WISCONSIN RING

Tonight's the night—the night when Carl E. "Charlie" Rademacher offers his first professional boxing match in the Twin Lakes ballroom. The matches are to be promoted every two weeks. The house has a seating capacity of more than 3,000.

The main bout of the evening is to be between George Muzzev, Hon. Mohas star, and George Davis, Chicago. Muzzev is substituting for Mike Cianciola. Richey Mitchell, fighter, as Cianciola recently sustained a fractured rib in training, and the Wisconsin Boxing commissioner physician refuses to let him go through with his fight tonight. Cianciola recently was defeated by Muzzev, who comes to Twin Lake at added expense. Muzzev this season has won over Joe Jawson, and has boxed in a headliner in Indianapolis. His name was often mentioned in Chicago last year as an opponent for Mandell.

Jack Heinenmann, who is becoming better known in the sporting world all of the time, and who has a wicked punch, will have for his opponent Joe Corrado, who twice won over Nic Taft who was scheduled for the bout. Taft was taken off the card as he has an injured eye. Corrado recently won over Johnny LaMare and boxed on the Wirginis and Byrne card. Corrado also comes at an added expense to the boxing commission.

B. Wilberg, Madison, one of the best younger boxers, who boxed on three consecutive cards in Milwaukee, has also been added to the card. Another Milwaukee product, Tony Grayjack, who last season made a real name for himself, is to meet Jack Hanley, Green Bay. Much depends on the result of tonight's match, for one of them will have to step out of the picture for future fights.

When two comparatively inexperienced boxed boxers get together, there is usually plenty of fight. They understand the game but their professional time hasn't spread so far, and they are anxious to add a bright feather to their hats. That's why fans are expecting a good bout when Shirdel Zimmerman, Janesville, trades blows with Harry Wilson, Chicago.

Al Terry is to meet Johnnie Fay, champion of the navy in his class. Both men are of the "rough and tough and hard to bluff" variety. Jimmy Munsell has never lost a bout since he turned professional, but he will have to work tonight when he boxes with Art Spahn. Jimmy Gilbransen, Racine, and Leo Spiegel, Milwaukee, are both fast steppers and hard hitters in the 118 pound class. They, too, are scheduled for tonight, and all in all, the card looks pretty hot.

FRUIT CELLAR VALUE TOLD BY PROFESSOR IN STATE UNIVERSITY

Products Are Kept Until Late in Spring, Forster Reminds.

Urbana, Oct. 18.—If "an apple a day keeps the doctor away" then the modern fruit cellar must go down as one of the bugs that prolong life, according to W. A. Foster, of the farm mechanics department, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. From such a fruit cellar, sound, juicy, home-grown apples may be obtained as late in the season as April and May, he says.

"This cellar may be a part of the basement insulated from the heating plant and sun-exposed walls or it may be a cave-like structure built of brick or concrete in the sidehill. Fruit shrinkage, so common in the average fruit room, can be avoided if the storage room has plenty of humidity in addition to being well ventilated.

"A fruit room built at the foot of the basement stair under the side or entrance porch is easily reached and is well adapted to insulation, ventilation and humidification. A masonry wall lined with two or more inches of corkboard insulation and covered over with cement plaster makes a sanitary construction. The outside walls above grade are easily shaded with shrubbery. Ventilation may be obtained by installing an outlet flue extending upward through the house wall with an outlet through the roof. Fresh air may be admitted through a louver window preferably placed in the north wall. A dirt floor in parts of the room usually will provide enough moisture to keep the fruit sound and plump.

"When the fruit is placed in the storage it should be cooled down gradually to a temperature a few degrees above freezing and held there without fluctuation. Moisture may be added by a spray in the air inlet or permitting the fresh air to pass over a pan of water instead of the earth floor which is more or less insubstantial and often open to rats burrowing under the walls.

"A close-fitting door made of two-ply tongue and groove boards or better, two doors, one on each side is preferable. It usually is desirable to have a double door to prevent freezing in extreme weather. The joint space above should be filled with shavings or some other insulation. "An added advantage of such a fruit room is that many of the home-grown vegetables may be stored in it."

CHILDREN NEED WATCHING

The Antioch Post of the American Legion is talking of forming a student patrol of eighth grade boys in order that small school children may be protected from motor traffic as they go to and from school.

The Legion should be supported in putting across this proposed movement as the program is a worthy one. The plan has been carried out in many cities, towns, and villages very successfully. The boys who are members of the patrol have the proper emblems and badges to identify them as officers of the law. It is the duty of these boys to stop traffic so that the roads may be clear when the school children are crossing the streets. Often children, seeing a friend on the other side of the street, will start to cross, never stopping to see if an automobile is approaching. Often motorists simply do not make any attempt to watch for children. Only last week a first-grade boy was hit by a car—fortunately he was not injured. Dozens of children are killed by automobiles.

The Legion is going to help conditions but it is up to every motorist to WATCH FOR CHILDREN, especially at times when they are going to and from school.

IT'S A REAL ORGANIZATION

The suprising fact that 4-H clubs in the United States have greater membership than the Boy Scout and Campfire movements combined was brought out in an address given to the Antioch Business Club in Millburn last week by H. C. Gilkerson, county farm adviser. National movements for young people have great influences over thousands, for the members are at ages when they are certain to be guided by the teachings.

The 4-H club, without a doubt, is one of the most worthwhile organizations in the world today. It stresses the Head, Health, Heart and Hand. The work which is outlined for the members covers the development of these four H's. Girls are taught sewing, cooking, canning and practical hints for making rural home life more pleasant, and boys are instructed in farming, forestry, and livestock work. Everyone is taught how to play—to play so that there will be physical and mental development as well as the highest enjoyment. Everyone who follows the 4-H programs learns to gain full benefit of the outdoor life. A boy or girl who completes his or her club work does not need to stop the work, but may be club leaders—leaders who are able to give better instructions than the inexperienced ones who taught them. 4-H club work is comparatively new. It has a powerful grip on the rural and small town children of this country. Its members, before long, will be leaders, not only in farm movements, but in every progressive program of the nation.

WHY LABOR LIKES MR. HOOVER

It was no newly-created enthusiasm which inspired the deluge of messages congratulating Herbert Hoover on his recent labor speech at Newark.

Mr. Hoover, as one who has made a living with his hands, knows the problems of labor and he can speak the language of the worker. At Newark he approved collective bargaining and condemned the indiscriminate use of the injunction, he emphasized the need for stabilized conditions of employment, and he repeated his doctrine that American labor deserves "the highest possible wage."

Mr. Hoover's friendliness for the workers of the country and his efforts in their behalf have been known for years. Long before his death Samuel Gompers, for many years the president of the American Federation of Labor, made this statement:

"There is a department of the government which devises the most efficient processes, and new ones still more efficient which does many things for industry and labor. It is possible to so understand the requirements of industry, the psychology of our own people and the philosophy of our own movement as to set forth a guiding, helpful policy, beneficial both to labor and capital. I speak now of our Department of Commerce, of which Herbert Hoover, who did such signal service for humanity during the World War, as the director of food and relief, is Secretary. What Mr. Hoover has built for industry and the commerce of our country is most helpful to labor.

"This is but one indication of a growing grasp of the bigness and rightness of this industrial policy which Mr. Hoover has so carefully worked out for the people of our Republic."

The security which Mr. Gompers felt in the policies advocated by Mr. Hoover now extends into every class of men who work for a living, or as Mr. Hoover once put it, "have the will to work." Labor is far safer under a Republican Administration with a low tariff, which throws American workers into direct competition with the cheap labor of Europe and Asia.

Men are always complaining that they don't understand women, but the women seem to have no trouble in understanding the men.

Don't seek experience, you'll get enough of it if you just let nature take its course.

A smile from a boss who knows good workmanship is worth more than a medal from a committee of impractical experts.

If you can get amusement out of your own follies you should be able to work up a smile any time. Be yourself—if other people will stand for it.

Experience in managing men doesn't seem to count for much in the art of managing women.

Life would be dull if we knew what it was all about.

If a speculation shows a profit it is known as an investment.

Faithfulness to a few things renders us masters of many things.

Children can fool the parents but the parents can't fool the children.

Fortunate is the man who thinks pretty well of himself—and who doesn't?

THE OTHER FELLOW'S YARD

When you're knockin' 'long on weary feet
With business on the bum
'N you don't know where the dough to meet
The rent is comin' from,
You'll meet a man, he'll wink 'n grin
'N tell you how he's starved
'N the grass'll seem much greener
In the other fellow's yard.

When you make the old tin lizzie
Do her stuff eight hours a day
'N she shakes you 'til you're dizzy
'N your teeth change places, say
Don't you often wish you'd taken up
Some other business, pard?
For the grass seems always greener
In the other fellow's yard.

When your grocer drives a finer car
Than you have ever known
'N your milkman's wife is dressed by far
Much better than your own.
When you're diggin' for more business
'N the route is long and hard
The grass'll seem much greener
In the other fellow's yard.

If you changed jobs with the grocer
Or a job of any kind
In a short while you would know sir,
That it's just a state of mind.
Your own grass is the sweetest
And will pay the best reward
Tho' the grass may seem the greenest
In the other fellow's yard.

To the 5000 who daily become owners of the new Ford car

THE service obligation of the Ford Motor Company and its dealer organization is now growing at the rate of 5000 cars a day. It is to these new car owners that this message is addressed.

The new Ford is a remarkably fine car for one that costs so little. It is simple in design, constructed of the finest materials, and built to unusually close measurements.

These are the reasons it performs so wonderfully. These are also the reasons its service requirements are so few and the up-keep cost so low.

When you receive your new car, the dealer will explain the simple little things that should be attended to at regular intervals to insure the best performance. He will also tell you something of his own facilities for doing this work promptly and at small cost.

With the purchase of your car, you are entitled to Free Inspection Service by your dealer at 500, 1000 and 1500 miles. This service is due you and we urge you to take full advantage of it. Proper care during this breaking-in period means a great deal to the life of your car.

Included in the Free Inspection Service is a check-up of the battery, the generator charging rate, the distributor, the carburetor adjustment, lights, brakes, shock absorbers, tire inflation and steering gear. The engine oil is also changed and chassis lubricated.

No charge whatever is made for labor or materials incidental to this inspection service, except where repairs are necessary because of accident, neglect, or misuse.

The labor of changing the engine oil and lubricating the chassis is also free, although a charge is made for the new oil.

We believe that when you see the good effects of this inspection you will continue to have it done regularly throughout the life of your car.

Wherever you live, you will find the Ford dealer very helpful in keeping your car in good running order for many thousands of miles at a minimum of trouble and expense.

He operates under close factory supervision and has been trained and equipped to do this work promptly, thoroughly and economically.

WELL, WELL! Here it is Thursday again. Suppose all the residents of Antioch will be rushing to the postoffice for the town "sheet." Hope they won't be disappointed with the contents. Never can tell about these Antioch people, though. Maybe they will and maybe they won't. Fact is, however, they have the paper and all its contents thereof. True?

Coming to work this morning saw L. M. Wetzel standing in front of his new headquarters, his hands thrust in his pocket, giving the building and his display window the once over. Wonder what he was thinking about? He seemed to have quite a look of satisfaction.

Dick Aliner, Walter Scott, and Mieke Depner spend a great deal of time discussing bowling. One thing is certain—they can't rave to their friends about the wonderful scores they make because the truth is bound to come out in the News. Publicity has its bad points, eh?

"Good morning, ladies!" and "how-do, men!" shouts H. P. Lowry to the right of him and to the left of him. Mr. Lowry speaks to everyone who goes by. Seems to get great great kick out of it, doesn't he?

A dog, its muddy feet on the glass of the Crystal theatre door, was looking at its reflection wondering what it's all about. H. R. Smith, owner of the theatre, will probably be wondering what it's all about, too, when he sees the muddy glass. It all comes in a lifetime, and Saturday morning will see Mr. Smith and about a dozen boys shining things up a bit, as usual.

Saw Miss Elizabeth Tonton, second grade teacher, going down the street. Looked as though half the children of the school had crowded around her. Strange how children like to walk to school with the teacher? And the number of children who go by the News office with flowers or fruit for their teachers—well, it is surprising! Each child probably feels as proud as if he were carrying a basket of jewels to the Queen of England.

So long! Be careful what you do. See you next Thursday.

Forty green and worried freshmen and sophomores were initiated at a party in the gymnasium Friday evening. The initiation began at 8 o'clock and each freshman and sophomore went through the eight treatments planned for them by the juniors and seniors. A little water here, a wee shock or two there, mixed with the various stunts and the initiation proper was over. The freshmen and sophomores are anxious to seek revenge on new students next year. After these stunts each of the freshmen and sophomores were called to the platform to entertain. The entertainments included such numbers as vocal solos, proposals, and a nipple-milk race.

After the program refreshments were served by the juniors and seniors. The stunt committee was composed of Mary Daly, chairman, Norman Jedele, Adolph Flegel and Iola Harn. The refreshment committee included Gladys Miller, chairman, Dean Loftus, Dorothea Koppehus and Edwin Rasch.

the states should be represented equally, and the House of Representatives where the states should be represented according to population.

Next came the question of slavery, that is whether the slaves should be counted in the population or not. The South was in favor and the North was not, but when it was decided the states should be taxed according to population all was changed, and the North wanted the slaves counted but the South didn't. It was finally decided that three-fifths should be counted in both cases.

Then came the problem of commerce. The North wanted Congress to control it but the South thought if Congress controlled it it would stop slave trade. Finally it was left up to Congress to control it but it couldn't stop the bringing of slaves before 1808.

After these compromises were settled the constitution was given to Governor Morris to write which he did in plain and simple language.

The Constitutional Convention finished its work in September, 1787 and was sent to the states to ratify. There was much objection to it by Jay, Madison and Hamilton. One objection was that it didn't state the rights of the people clearly but this was avoided by the first 10 amendments made in 1791. The constitution

Two Mountain Climbers Die in Alpine Tragedy

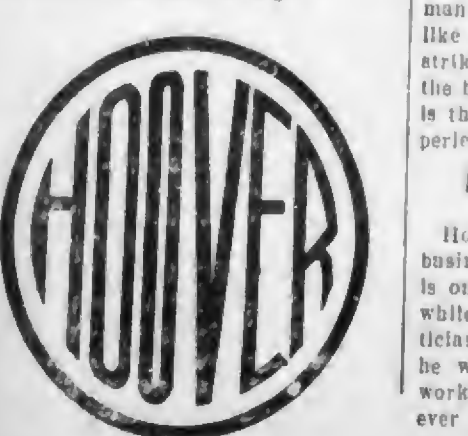

Vietnam.—Two young Alpinists died and a third was rescued with frozen feet after being marooned for three days and nights as the result of their attempt to scale the sheer sides of Dachstein, the tallest peak of its range in the Austrian Alps. Four others in the party were unhurt.

The seven young mountain climbers had ascended about 5,000 of the 9,500 feet to the summit when they encountered a snowstorm.

They took shelter on a ledge. One youth, named Sturm, went mad. His companions roped him to the rock, but he freed himself and disappeared over the precipice.

A rescue party climbed above them and lowered a rope. One by one they were drawn up, but as the fifth was being hoisted the rope broke and he was hurled back down the mountain side to his death.

Before a new rope could be knotted together, night shut down and the last member of the party was forced to remain over another night.

TYPHOID FEVER HEARS DEATH KNELL TOLLED

Fewer Cases of Dreaded Disease Are Reported Each Year.

Springfield, Oct. 11.—Writing out the death summons of a wicked disease, Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, State health director, announced today that plans for burying typhoid fever under an avalanche of sanitation in Illinois have been almost completely carried out and that another decade of progress similar to the one about to close will find this infection as rare as leprosy and beriberi in the state. These predictions were inspired by current statistical returns showing typhoid prevalence lagging 27 per cent behind that of last year while field inspections by sanitary engineers of the state numbered 1675 for the fiscal year recently closed compared with 350 per annum for the fiscal year recently closed compared with 350 per annum for the fall of the decade ended with 1920.

"The first nine months of 1928 brought only 675 cases of typhoid fever for the entire state," Dr. Rawlings said, "unless we experience a post season epidemic we shall finish the year with less than 1000 cases all told. Last year, carrying the low annual record up to that time, there were 927 cases for the corresponding period and 1278 for the final figure. As late as 1910 there were more than one thousand deaths in a single year while at the opening of the twentieth century 2000 fatalities and 20,000 cases per annum were accepted as the usual course of events in Illinois.

"Cleaning up water and milk supplies on a big scale has done the trick. Water was the greatest carrier of typhoid from sick to well until municipalities installed sanitary public supplies and forced private wells and outhouses to be abandoned.

"Then milk was recognized as an important means of travel for the typhoid germ. Pasteurization settles matters with it there, however, and now with about 75 per cent of the market milk in the state being pasteurized a great means of spreading typhoid as well as other infections has been eliminated.

"Ten years from now we hope that the people of Illinois can gather in a great jubilee ceremony at the burial rites of typhoid fever if the present degree of sanitary control over water and milk is maintained and a reasonable degree of progress continues toward increasing its scope and educating tourists to be wary about their drinks when away from home. During the fiscal year recently closed our sanitary engineers made 1675 inspections of water systems, sewer facilities and milk supplies compared with 350 in the corresponding period of 1921. Their work, however, is like that of a detective. They gather the information and its up to officials and individuals to manage their affairs accordingly."

Same Man, but Bigger

Herbert Hoover is essentially the man he was eight years ago. But like a tree, he has grown, the roots strike deeper, the trunk is taller and the branches have a wider spread. He is the same man with much more experience.—George Horace Lorimer.

Hoover Great Executive

Hoover represents the organized business interests of the country. He is one of the greatest executives and while he may not be as good a politician as the governor of New York, he will likely make one of the best working presidents the country has ever had.—Pecora (Ill.) Star.

In reference to the question of prohibition? "If you are not seeking to deceive the voters, why did you not follow the commendable example of Judge Aldon B. Parker, your party's nominee in 1901, who notified the convention before it adjourned of his personal views on the question of upholding the gold standard regarding which the party's platform was silent.

"He wired his representative at the convention as follows: 'As the platform is silent on the subject, my views should be made known to the convention and if they are proved to be unsatisfactory to the majority, I request you to decline the nomination for me at once so that another may be nominated before adjournment.'

"How can Al Smith in good morals and good faith stand as the standard bearer of his party which declares unequivocally for the maintenance of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law when he is opposed to his own party's declaration?

"How can he be honest with the public when he is not honest with his party's platform?"

Al Smith was expected to answer these and other questions to voters in Chicago when he arrived in that city yesterday.

Other speakers were William H. Malone, chairman of the Illinois Tax commission; David H. Jackson, former president of the Lincoln Park board, and Dr. John Dill Robertson, president of the West Park board and former health commissioner.

Mrs. Stratton Speaks

Mrs. and Mr. Stratton and their two sons, Kerwin and William, occupied a place of honor at the speakers' table. Mrs. Stratton responded gracefully to requests for an address from the wife of the next secretary of state, and in clear tones voiced the appreciation she felt toward the many friends who are deeply interested in Mr. Stratton's success, although she was visibly moved by the great demonstration being given in behalf of her husband. Mr. Stratton made a short address as the closing event of the evening.

A great delegation from Lake county was in attendance.

Six Party Tickets On November Ballot

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 15.—When the voters of Illinois enter their polling places on Tuesday, November 6, to express their choice of national, state and county candidates, they will be handed a ballot containing the tickets nominated by six parties.

Parties represented are: Republican, Democrat, Independent Republican, Socialist Labor, Socialist and Workers (Communist) Party of America. The Prohibition party did not file a ticket. It is expected the state ballot will be certified to the various county clerks during the present week.

The official state ballot to be voted at the general election will be somewhat smaller than four years ago, due to the change in the election law which provides for the omission of the names of the presidential electors. Under this change twenty-nine names will not appear in each column of the party ticket.

New Diamond Fields Found in South Africa

Johnannesburg, South Africa.—Diamonds have been found on the east of Namaqualand, southwest Africa. Dr. Hans Merensky, noted American geologist, had long held a theory that the great Orange river, which drains a large portion of southern Africa and empties into the sea of Namaqualand must have washed down vast quantities of diamonds during the centuries. He therefore went prospecting along the Namaqualand coast and was rewarded by finding the seashore dotted with large precious stones that had been swept up again from the sea bed by the waves.

BOTTLE IS SWEET ACROSS THE OCEAN

Message Brings Reply From North Sea.

Baltimore, Md.—This is the tale of a bottle, a seagoing wine bottle, favored by an ocean's vagaries and wafted by helping breezes from the Grand Banks to the sandy shores of Schleswig-Holstein.

Strange currents and white-capped breakers carried the bottle thousands of miles through the South Atlantic and the cold waters of the North sea back again to the German land while it had left months before.

On April 17, five days out from Bremen, fourteen-year-old Theobald Zahn dropped the bottle into the ocean from the deck of the steamer Herlin of the North German Lloyd line.

Recently young Zahn received a postal from a lighthouse keeper at Westerhever, on the shores of the North sea, saying the bottle had been found, washed ashore by the tide, and the note Theobald had enclosed was plainly decipherable. Theobald, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Frieda Zahn; his sister, Arminde, eight, and brother, Tony, twelve, left their native home near Munich to join Mr. Zahn in Baltimore.

On the Grand Banks, Theobald wrote his note and stoppered the bottle.

"Good-by, Germany—we're going to America," he wrote on a piece of paper in German, and followed it with his name and the address at which he expected to live in the new country. The postal, postmarked Osterhever, Schleswig-Holstein, and addressed to the "Familie Zahn," caused considerable excitement in the 700 block North Duncan street. It was signed by Jakob Pauls, the lighthouse keeper, and read:

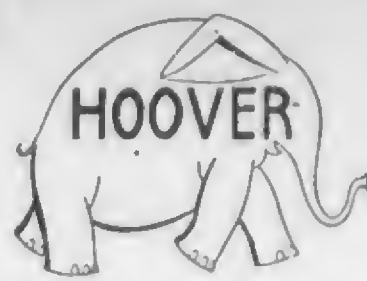

"Dear F. Zahn: The bottle post was found by my son on the sixth of July on the sands of Westerhever. Kindly answer if you get this card. With best German wishes."

Engineer of Civilization

Herbert Hoover is engineering our material civilization as a whole; and that without goose-stepping the human spirit; blue-printing the human soul. Even though the work fall at times to blind and incompetent successors, it must go on; for he has shown a new way.—Will Irvin.

Hoover's Record

Both from its humane and practical side the work which Mr. Hoover has done appeals to thinking men and women. Hoover has successfully handled problems which would have baffled most men. His record is unsurpassed.—Williamsport (Pa.) Gazette Bulletin.
